

Krewella, War Forever

the way that your words sting is really poetic like there's a knife through your chest but i get it i do, i do, i do i hate to admit but i fear i'm two-headed i wait for the storm but it hits and i run for the moon, oh we might be doomed

i put you on ice, it's the silence that bites it's another cold night, if we're deep in our pride can we switch it flip our sides, no we don't have nine lives cuz it's - it's do or die now, right now right now

oh are we out of our minds nobody one wins in this fight no i don't wanna be at war forever oh if you're reading my mind i see a dove in the sky white flag - put it up surrender running running running running, running outta time we're running running running running, cycles you and i
oh are we out of our minds?
nobody one wins in this fight
no i don't wanna be at war forever

tell me where do you go when you start to see red? and your eyes lose the sun, i think i taste the end oh , i do, i do, i do and i wanna be strong but it wavers on cruel cuz how can i win if i'm always gon feel like the fool? oh i might be doomed

i put you on ice, it's the silence that bites
it's another cold night, if we're deep in our pride
can we switch it flip our sides, no we don't have nine lives
cuz it's - it's do or die now, right now right now

oh are we out of our minds
nobody one wins in this fight
no i don't wanna be at war forever
oh if you're reading my mind
i see a dove in the sky
white flag - put it up surrender
running running running running, running outta time
we're running running running running, cycles you and i
oh are we out of our minds?
nobody one wins in this fight
no i don't wanna be at war forever