

Krezip, Everything And More

when the aching is over i hope we can talk again i hope that you'll understand me i wonder if i ever will, yeah i'm now searching for a better way something that makes me feel good about myself, yeah i hope some day we'll laugh about it all and then everything turns out to be alright, yeah i wish i could tell you all i hope that we'll both be wise, hey baby just wish it wouldn't give this pain and that it wasn't my fault, no and that i could help you out, baby ('cause you still remember)
'cause i still remember everything (that i could help you out, everything) the clock's still ticking your heart's still beating so there probably will be love again but i can feel the aching don't care for what reason but i'd rather see you smiling

II)

i'm now searching for a better way
something that makes me feel good about myself, yeah
i hope some day we'll laugh about it all and then everything turns out to be alright, yeah
i wish i could tell you all
i hope that we'll both be wise, hey baby
just wish it wouldn't give this pain
and that it wasn't my fault, no
and that i could help you out, baby ('cause you still remember)
'cause i still remember everything (that i could help you out, everything) just everything and more we were for everything and more we were, no baby, you're not the only one that gives a damn there are too many reasons for me to understand but it takes us, baby, furtherway to start out as two, baby, yeah
i wish i could tell you all i hope that we'll both be wise both be wise, hey baby
just wish it wouldn't give this pain
and that it wasn't my fault, no that i could help you out, baby ('cause you still remember)
'cause i still remember everything (that i could help you out, everything) that i could help you out, hey baby ('cause you still remember)
'cause i still remember everything (that i could help you out, everything)
just everything and more
we were for everything and more we were