

Kris Delmhorst, Honeyed Out

Your love is like too much sugar, too much sugar me to eat
Nothing wrong with a little sugar but too much sugar's too damn sweet

Your love is like too much water, too much water all around
Nothing wrong with a little water but too much water make a body drown

Your love is like too much whiskey, too much whiskey in my cup
Nothing wrong with a little whiskey but too much whiskey fuck you up

Your love is like too much candy, too much candy on a stick
Nothing wrong with a little candy but too much candy make you sick

Your love is like too much honey, too much honey in my mouth
Nothing wrong with a little honey but lately I'm just honeyed out