

Kristen Barry, God In The Box

Ok, I'm watching
You've got my attention
And I've given up all my thoughts
To the God in the box

'Cause this is how it should be
This is the world outside my door
And happiness can be bought
Says the God in the box

Through the wire in the wall
I am connected to it all
All I needed to be wise
All I needed to survive

Are you anxious?...Good
Are you separated?...Good
Do you, do you like yourself
Do you wish you were something else
Then it's working well
'Cause this is how we talk
And this is what we believe in

I've been desensitized
The humming lights keep me alive
In the God in the
In the God in the box

Through the wire through the wall
I am connected to it all
And all I need to be wise
All I needed to
All I needed to
All I needed to
All I needed to survive

I hate the television
I hate the television
I can't think for myself
I can't think for myself
