

Krister Linder, Don't Lose Your Way

even when pitch black all around and everything seems to be shutting you down although they've left you in the cold and everyone else is safe and sound believe in what you know

don't lose your way
remember what you know
you better not
don't you

nobody wants you to get off track it wasn't meant as a stab in the back a million and one circumstances lead you to this pitchfork use your head

that's when the devil tosses you the ball it seems so innocent and small but that's usually how we fall
