

Kristine Sa, The Truth Is

Everywhere I look, I turn, it seems that you are there
Everyone I leave, I learn that they cannot compare
Everything I see, I do, I touch, I think of you
Every little thing in life
It leaves me so confused
Oh, everything was so, so clear before we tore apart
Now all my passion's trapped inside
This lonely broken heart

So if you ask, if you must know
I'll tell you, here's the truth
If you ask, if you must know
I wouldn't lie to you
If you ask, if you must know
I'll tell you, here's the truth
Do I love you? Love you, still?
The truth is...
I do

Now without you here, the sky turned a new shade of clear
A new rain of tears
And without you here, my body's a lonely frontier
An ocean of fears

So if you ask, if you must know
I'll tell you, here's the truth
If you ask, if you must know
I wouldn't lie to you
If you ask, if you must know
I'll tell you, here's the truth
Do I love you? Love you, still?
The truth is...
I do