

Kronos, Monumental Carnage

There's blood unforgotten all these wounded souls tortured by Christ's faith the ground was strewn with so much beheaded pagan corpses but now, the bell rings two centuries later

A furore normannorum the devil and his demons summoned from the sea libera nos domine within anger, there's the hate you'll never see

There are slumbers unawakeable wolves of war have broken their chains uncontrolled spirits of their revenge remember...blood calls blood

Monumental carnage has a name tribe of the north...horsemen of the sea shields against shields axes are stronger than words

Come to see, fury of the northmen come to see, playing with beheaded monks come to feel their asshole hotter than hell "Oh my god...hail this irreligious sodomy!!!"

Monumental carnage has a name
tribe of the north...horsemen of the sea
shields against shields
axes are stronger than words

Hail to the northlaw condemned virgin to the Norglaw you are the ones, the sons of Wotan who with his blinded eyes, see the dying dawn

Lindisfarne revenge...in memory of the proud ones!