

Krypteria, Dream Yourself Far Away

As the lights come crashing down without the slightest sound we turn this page for good, there's no more
With the echo of the chimes still clanging in our minds we have to move ahead because we are not
Capture the wind shed your skin
Dream yourself far away, start spreading your wings now, let your mind disobey, capture the wind
Dream yourself far away, embrace the unknown now, free yourself of all chains, capture the wind
When you're gazing at the sky with a heart all strapped and tied resist your fate, unbind, set sail, free
Complete the task at hand, the end is not the end, despite all the dismay we'll live to fight another day
Capture the wind shed your skin
Dream yourself far away, start spreading your wings now, let your mind disobey, capture the wind
Dream yourself far away, embrace the unknown now, free yourself of all chains, capture the wind
Time to move on and dream yourself to a new place, your chance to head on to a whole different time
Time to live the word, remember what you heard - evolve, begin, don't do yourself in
Dream yourself far away, start spreading your wings now, let your mind disobey, capture the wind
Dream yourself far away, embrace the unknown now, free yourself of all chains, capture the wind