

Krypteria, The Night All Angels Cry

As I look back at the things I've done and see the person that I've become I realize I have to pay the price
As I review the path I chose, all the damage caused
Judgement day for me has come, I ask myself was it right, was I wrong ?
This is the night all angels cry and their tears set heaven alight
This is a night of screaming, the sky is bleeding and no one but myself to blame
This is the night all angels cry as they're falling with wings on fire
This is a night of screaming, the sky is bleeding, I'm the one who has to pay
Now that I'm done reflecting on my past for me there'll be no "peace at last"
Cause I can't wash my hands of all the bloodshed, all the pain I caused And as the sands of time run out
Judgement day for me has come, I ask myself was it right, was I wrong ?
This is the night all angels cry and their tears set heaven alight
This is a night of screaming, the sky is bleeding and no one but myself to blame
This is the night all angels cry as they're falling with wings on fire
This is a night of screaming, the sky is bleeding, I'm the one who has to pay
The time has come for you to go now, everybody's got to pay somehow Step up and take your final breath
This is the night all angels cry and their tears set heaven alight
This is a night of screaming, the sky is bleeding and no one but myself to blame
This is the night all angels cry as they're falling with wings on fire
This is a night of screaming, the sky is bleeding, I'm the one who has to pay