Kula Shaker, Knight On The Town

She had been waiting all week for her night on the town He saw a lost soul of heaven that walked on the ground Well the motor car felt like a carriage The disco became as a palace and shone like a crown It shone like a crown All that we said was forgotten now we don't bolong Games for the lost souls of heaven that walk on the ground Monday arriver but inside she was feeling so blue Where was the garden of Eden she thought had come true? She felt like she should have been praying Her love was a memory fading, but what can you do When you're feeling blue... All that we said was forgotten now we don't belong Games for the lost souls of heaven that walk on the ground
