

Kwan, Lyrics of poison

Lyrics of poison

Where is the potion that will heal my aching Float in the ocean of carelessness I shall take no stress Though I can feel the press of the phantoms of darkness Haunting my soul, taking control Imprisoned between positive and negative poles Infinite hole of infinite loneliness Infinite time from the infinite presence Enchanting enchant me that is what a hell Try my spirits to be locked in the shell hell would be a mercy but I demand no pity
'cause the feeling of complaining makes me feel breathy
This pain runs like rain right through my veins since here in my mind I can't stop in vain I try and I cry too much and why for someone who just flies

Lyrics of poison

Infiltrating your mind taking over the brain

Lyrics of poison

Taking over the brain you'll never be the same Seeking for the cold and feel but holyness
For my soul my stress it's the cry for happiness in my chest
A burning spot left by my mistress
I will never surrender to the gorgeous of emptiness Why? 'cause I have this trick of a line inside Lies have been fed to me so many times But wise has this experience made me and now I realise that in the past (...) lived my life Smoking mister morning got me hoping in the near future doors will be open So I said to myself that I should keep on coping for a warrior I was born, and as a warrior I'll be going to an enchantous land, the promised land the land where man can be proud of himself and stand with dignity, honour and courage
I shall remain in eternity
That, I promise
Infiltrating your mind, taking over the brain
You'll never be the same Lyrics of poison