

Kyonte, 99

Damn

99

Now listen

Listen...

Left right left, fast pace

Cause I'm running down the street

There I left, a sad face

I left you crying over me

I think about it every night

Its like a knife inside my heart

And every day, every way

I feel my world torn apart

How could I ever think Id fill out the emptiness?

Of letting you walk away

I've tried, I tried

I tried many ways

To replace the one that got away

Girl Im running, trying to get away from the thought of you

And the things we used to do

Girl Im running, searching for me another substitute

But no matter what I try

99,99 and a half won't do

They just won't do

99,99 and a half won't do

Cause I want you

Girl I want you

I can see you

You mean so much to me

And they say that you

They say you dont miss a good thing till it's gone

And that's when I realised

I got to swallow my pride

Now all I do is call and say

With these artificial hands I pray

To show that I miss you girl

And how will I rid of this, this burden me trying to deal

The worst part about it is this...

How could I ever think Id fill out the emptiness?

Of letting you walk away

I've tried, I tried

I tried many ways

To replace the one that got away

Girl Im running, trying to get away from the thought of you

And the things we used to do

Girl Im running, searching for me another substitute

And no matter what I try

99, 99

99,99 and a half won't do

They just won't do

99,99 and a half won't do

Cause I want you

You were the only one that truly cared

The only one that truly cared was you

And I must be the biggest fool

To take a chance at ever losing you

Or roll a dice

While playing the field

When I had you

What we had was real

And I can't extinguish it

I think I'm losing it

99 and a half won't do

99, 99 and a half

99, 99 and a half

Cause I need you
Girl Im running, trying to get away from the thought of you
Girl Im running, searching for me another substitute
Cause no matter what I try
99, 99 and a half
It just, they just won't do
99, 99 and a half won't do cause I want you