

L.A. Guns, (Can't give you) Anything better than love

I'll be there when the others run
I'll put you back when you come on down
Broken angel, when you come to me
My arms are feel your celestialy.
When I'll be wild comes crushing down
I hold you up save, you'll not crush.
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love
I'll be there when you close your eyes
Right next to you until sun arise
And in my arms I le you high
And in your dreams I will let relieve
And when the madness comes crushing down
I hold you up save, you'll not crowd.
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love
I can't give you my anything better than
I can't give you any better than love.