

Lagwagon, Choke

Choke choke pride
Still I could only wait for you to decide
Tear it all apart you break my heart
Why don't you follow through follow through

And the day ends a so called friend
You're drunk in bed
How could you with... Why would you...
All of them no one owns you
Just keep me hanging here
Tell me you need me dear
Tell me you're sure I shouldn't fear
Lies Lies Lies

Choke choke please
Have another drink on me
My love humiliation
I gave you every chance to leave
And you stayed just long enough to bury me
As I understand what no one can see
I stop

And all these words seem selfish and anger you
And none of them is true
But all of them confess until I choke choke choke choke
Choke choke choke
Choke choke choke
Choke choke choke

I thought I knew a true love
I used to think you really cared
Used to think I knew true innocence
I thought that you were that
I know you too well when you lie
I hope you choke on them and see for me for me

And all these words seem selfish and anger you
And you were always true
Am I the only one that hears you lie?
