

Lake, Letters Of Love

Well I know from the moment I found them
Cos the blood seemed to rush from my face
Like the floor had been pulled from below me
And the world started crumbling away

Oh no I'd been the fool who didn't know
You were leading the blind

Letters of love yeh I saw them today
Letters of love put an end to your game
It's over because of the letters of love

Now it tortures my mind just a thinking
Of your cheating and all of your lies
But it was salt in the wound when I saw babe
They were all from a god friend of mine

Oh no I was the clown who didn't know
The joke of the town

Letters of love yeh I saw them today
Letters of love put an end to your game
It's over because of the letters of love

Thought I knew you like the back of my hand
That was my mistake
Now I know that it was somebody else
Baby I never knew you at all not at all

Letters of love yeh I saw them today
Letters of love put an end to your game
It's over because of the letters of love
