

Lake, Love's A Jailer

Sitting here beside the fire
You're sleeping like a child
Warm from our love
But in my mind
There's something wrong
I can't go on

At the age of twenty nine
I feel that I've resigned
No reason to live
Slowly dying
Caught in the cage
Our love has made

Loves the jailor in my life
Loves twisting
Is tearing my heart apart
Loves the chains that tie me down
In love you'll down
It's just like a stone so strong so strong
Loves a jailor

Can it be in all these years
There's nothing I've achieved
No challenge has come
Just deep inside
A burning pain
To make a change

Tell me what I have to do
Should I turn and walk away
And leave you alone
Leave you crying
I'd never go
And hurt you so

Loves the jailor in my life
Loves twisting
Is tearing my heart apart
Loves the chains that tie me down
In love you'll down
It's just like a stone so strong so strong
Loves a jailor
