Lambchop, The Man Who Loved Beer

To whom can i speak today The brothers they are evil And the old friends of today They have become unlovable To whom can i speak today The gentleness has perished And the violent man has come down on everyone To whom can i speak today The wrong which roams the earth There can be no end to it It is just unstoppable Death is in my sights today And when a man desires To see home after many years in jail February through december We have such a tragic hue As separate as the fingers Or suddenly as one as the hand And the violent man comes down on everyone