

Lament, Time Fades Away

Her words are fading tones
Within the walls of a broken home
He closes his eyes
Won't see
How she cries in memories

She begs him to stay
He mumbles >go away!<
Her rainy eyes must see
That he buried all memories

When comes the time forget? To regret?
She's knocked out of her stride
But hopes time will be on her side
In unity with shame... with blame
He thought this step is for cure
But he walks the same old floor

Years are gone
I'm watching in your face can't hold back the tears I cry
DON'T LEAVE ME!
the things we could do...
...if our tomorrow comes...

Your life waves in pictures behind your fading eyes
they're running away
WHAT HAVE I DONE???

TIME TAKES HER AWAY
