

Lanemeyer, Another Lonely Winter

Kissing you a winter evening
I don't have the strength to say goodbye
Sat around and drank all day
Knowing that tomorrow I'll be gone
'Cause I'm so in love with you

And tonight
When they played our song on the radio
And tonight
I fought everything I was
You're the girl I'm dreaming of

Kissing you a winter morning
Thinking back to how it felt last night
'I love you' seems to hold its meaning
Even though they're just words after all
These words seem to mean

And tonight
When they played our song on the radio
And tonight
I fought everything I was
You're the girl I'm dreaming of

Tonight I'll sing you songs until you fall asleep
Whisper every word into a smile
Just thinking about how good this night could be
With me
And our song on the radio
'Cause you're all I've ever loved
You're the girl I'm dreaming of
Whoah-whoah-whoah
