

Lanemeyer, Broken Dream November

your weather is coming in i feel you here again i dont look like i did a little bruised from everything you were all you never got to be you're in my heart
watch over me

waiting here for you and the sun dont shine as bright
without you still i dream of you

you're in the stars ill wish on you tonight to watch over me forever as these angels that you are in this broken dream november five years gone five years lost id give em all back to have you your light burned out tonight and it paint my world forever all these colors that you were will not fade with time
