

Lanemeyer, Where's My Letter

i lost you
and found you
i've fallen
i am now
so sleep now
and dream me
and summers
sweet memories
just hold me
and breath me
please trust me
please see me
you are so smart
you're shinning
you melt me
when you're smiling
cause i wanna know what made you pick up that phone and restart the conversation rewrite the book refill the pages with thoughts erased by our complications so what do
i say now
so what do
i do now
to show you
to trust me
believe me
why cant you see me?
forget the past
lets go back to our place
we'll fade away
we'll find that day
