

Lauri Johannes Ylönen, Hello

Silently breathing the air of December Window's left open she lies on the floor
No further questions the jury has spoken
Nobody hears as she whispers the call.

Hello
Is there anybody out there in the cold?
Hello
if there's anybody else who's left alone
hello.

Injustice has won as she climbs on the platform
Strangers are staring and waving goodbye Closing her eyes from the madness around her Breathing the air of this world one last time.

Hello
Is there anybody out there in the cold?
Hello
if there's anybody else who's left alone
hello.

Maybe it's like falling asleep
Maybe it's not so bad
I ain't gonna leave here feeling guilty
I ain't gonna let you have that Go ahead crush and break my bones but you will never touch my soul
I would rather ride a bolt of lightning than feel nothing at all Anybody out there in the cold?
Is there anybody out there at all?
Hello.