

Lee Roy Parnell, Rock

When you wake up in the morning and you wonder
Why no one's beside you where i usually lay
And you think you hear the sound like distance thunder
That's just your old rock rolling away

I was your rock standing strong for you
There was nothing i wouldn't do
No matter the cost i was ready to pay
Now you say i'm only holding you down
Like some old rock you've been dragging around
Yes i'm your rock but i'm rolling away

I'm rolling away on a downhill grade
I'm gonna come to rest side a mountain of love some day
Cause i finally understand if you're resting on shifting sands
Even a rock goes rolling away

I was your rock standing strong for you...
Yes i'm your rock but i'm rolling away
