

Lee Ryan, Guardian Angel

In your eyes I see you've been broken
And your shadow it hides from the sun
As a picture with words left unspoken
Are you wondering who you are

Do you ever think there's someone out
There looking over you
Watching everything you do
Looking after you

Would you believe that I could be your guardian angel
Do you believe that this is true
If you say yes I'll fall and I will be able
To look at anyone so true I love you

Your thoughts get lost in the ocean
And your prides as strong as the sea
Your heart is blocked by a raincloud
Only thunder and rain can be seen

Do you ever think there's someone out
There looking over you
Watching everything you do
Looking after you

Would you believe that I could be your guardian angel
Do you believe that this is true
If you say yes I'll fall and I will be able
To look at anyone so true I love you

Say the words and I will be there
Hold my hand cause I am scared
You believe the world can be strange
Please take away my pain

Would you believe that I could be your guardian angel
Do you believe that this is true
If you say yes I'll fall and i will be able
To look at anyone so true I love you, you, you, you
Do you believe that this is true
If you say yes I'll fall and I will be able
To look at anyone so true I love you
