Leeland, Hey

I'd give myself to find You Stumble and fall to see You You're worth it all To me You are I'd swim across the stormy seas And scream it from the mountain peaks You're worth it all To me You are

(And I said)
Hey You're the one
That I've been looking for
And I found You here
And I found You here

Thinking back on all the times
I passed You by with blinded eyes
I thought that I
Would be just fine
Tripping over all my lies
I saw you there with no disguise
You're worth it all
To me You are

Do you see my celebration For this open invitation to Your arms, Your arms It's a beautiful fixation As I find myself surrounded by Your love, Your love
