

Left Alone, Dead Red Roses

So what are you gonna do now honey?
When I'm dead and gone
And the only thing you have to remember me by
Is this fucking song

I went driving down New Hampshire street now, sugar
Looking for a home
But that's where I found myself in the end
Desperate and alone

Dead red roses on my bed
For the love that went away
Dead red roses on my bed

All the times when I was standing all by myself
And I'll stand there again
Well over and over and over again
I stand without any friends

I needed someone there, there was
No one there for me
It took some time to realize but now there's no surprise
No, I finally see

Dead red roses on my bed
For the love that went away
Dead red roses on my bed
