

Lefty, Rocket Ride

take you on a rocket ride to the moon you wouldn't come back even though you knew i was tired standing on the sun you looked so bright i felt the meltdown you put the clamp down on me again
i couldn't wake up when i tried you stood there laughing as i died read about your ruin as they said it was self inflicted and i thought just like you to prove yourself again i held the key to your success loaded gun in the top drawer you overlooked it : or did you?

i couldn't wake up when i tried
you left me for a rocket ride long enough you held your breath long enough to keep me here i couldn't leave if i... i couldn't leave you if i tried, even if i tried i'd be so much better off without you now take you on a rocket ride