Legenda, Wolves, Honey, Wolves

A peaceful walk in October's rain has come again A drop of blood to call the hunters you are the pray

Do you remember the nights we walked these lovely fields
Where the dead roses grow and it rains blood down here
On this valley of mysterious red waterfalls
The only thing to hear is the wolves cry that shatter the still

Every night, every day
Every fullmoon we came down here
Every night, every day
Every fullmoon we lived your dream

A peaceful walk in October's rain has come to it's end No more nightly hunts, no winds will blow No wolves eyes glow