

Legends Of Rodeo, We'd Be Happier Here

When I saw the Kansas skyline that night, I knew that my heart had moved from my chest out west
So let's walk around when this town shuts down and the side streets and buildings are sleeping, and
And outside, the stars' light, it burned a brilliant white. And everything that I saw that night came true
I saw God that night. I saw God running.