

Lehnen, Check Our Pulses

wake me up from my sleep, tell me i'm not allowed to dream.
but i still walk in my sleep.
i won't walk, i'll run away.
from everyone threatening to take me away from what I feel.
check our pulses, we're still drawing breath.
follow impulses, of my heart and never of my head.
baby kiss me and we've already won the fight.
nightmares start in the morning, a punishment upon waking.
let's stay here for always.
look up there those were our stars.
we can reclaim them as ours.
hold my hand, here we go.