

Lemon Demon, Amnesia Was Her Name

Amnesia was her name, she had beautiful eyes.
And every word she said, it was a little surprise.

Cant remember when I realized I was in love.
(La-la-love.)
Cant remember who it was I was thinking of.
Oh my god... oh my god.

The doctor said I had tomato loss...
(All right.)
Dr. Amnesia was her name, she had beautiful eyes.
We had spaghetti with long term memory sauce...
(All right.)
And every word she said, it was a little surprise.

Cant remember how she smiled when she said my name...
(Whats my name?)
Cant remember, cause my heart jumped and hit my brain.
Cest lamour et blessures.

I guess she didnt know how to treat me right...
Because I cant recall where I slept that night.

And I cant recall that special way
She told me each and every day...
Her name.
I cant recall the fact that I always said I loved her back...
The same way, every time the same.

The doctor said that I had beautiful eyes.
(All right.)
Amnesia was her name, she had memory loss.
(No, wait...)
Well, every word I said, it was a little surprising.
(All right.)
And every word she said didnt make it across.

Cant remember when we walked past the O.R. sign.
(Sur-ger-y.)
Cant remember passing out with her hand in mine.
(My-my-mind.)
I remember waking up with my mind repaired.
(A-okay!)
I remember when I realized she wasnt there.