

Lemonator, Broken Record

I missed a spot
Again, I screwed up
Not worth very much
Is all that you say
Again and again
And I can't complain
'Cause then I would go insane
And I'd be the same as you

All this time been repeating:
"Yes I'm sorry"
I've had enough of this 'cause you never listen to me, what I say

You can tell me I'm wrong
But your record's broken
You can tell me I'm wrong
But the record's broken
Its the same old song

I hate that song
I hate that sound
It's the sound of no change
It's the sound of the vain
It's the same beaten trail
Dangerously common way
I won't be the same no way

All messed up and your words mean nothing to me
We've had it always wrong
since the day one
I should have said it, now I say

You can tell me I'm wrong
But your record's broken
You can tell me I'm wrong
But the record's broken
It's the same old song and dance