Lene, Scream

Truth is blurry and distorted and my vision stained

In my mindless space Silent voices wake And speak no good or worth I feel no gravity

Another promise broke Another empty stroke Then I fall headfirst

Slowly I escape and I release the pain I feel the gravity

And i scream
but my mind can't eat when my soul won't sleep won't you feed my swollen appetite
And I scream
In my weightless frame tell me who's to blame
If the pictures lie

Million miles away from the real world is where the fiction lays?

Tear another page Hope your doubts erase Read the words you're told I'm yelling yet unheard

Same old story
Stone cold days
Don't know what is real
I'm blind until it hurts Guess it just don't matter when You're so helpless and the life
You're given a mess
Give me one good reason
Why I'm so mixed up i wish the damn fake bubble
Would burst
