

Lennon, Nothing Out Of Me

If I fucked you once would that keep you in your place
But that would give up my freedom to run away
Watching you stand too far enough to be
The warmest feeling inside of me

If i had a voice I'd speak, if I knew the truth I'd believe
But you give the lies I need to make nothing out of me
But there's a voice to speak, and there is truth to believe
But you give the lies I need to make nothing out of me

Could I have a morning with a reason to live
Or a day that doesn't end with deceit
Could you be my savior to help me rise
Instead of bringing me down to your feet

If I had a voice I'd speak, if I knew the truth I'd believe
But you give the lies I need to make nothing out of me
And there's a voice to speak, and there is truth to believe
But you give the lies I need to make nothing out of me

If that wall falls down that was built from top to ground
And piece by piece I find out what I was about
That wall falls down from top to ground
And piece by piece I discover me

Is there a question I didn't ask with an answer you didn't give Could that be all I have left for my reason to live
This was the year to make my rise
But you left first when i fell from their eyes

If I had a voice I'd speak, if I knew the truth I'd believe
But you give the lies I need to make nothing out of me
And there's a voice to speak, and there is truth to believe
But you give the lies I need to make nothing out of me
