

Lennon, Rain

too much to say and no one to listen seems the story of our lives was i right about how we should be living must be looking through someone else's eyes

i don't care
what you say
fuck the words
that get in our way

bring us rain
can't make it pour
bring us life
can't make us live
bring it all
don't have to take
i will not accept your blame forsake my freedom to give you your voice how could you never learn to speak take these moments and make them what they're worth you can't keep living through me

i don't care
what you think
fuck the air
that makes us breathe

can't make it pour
bring us life
don't have to take
i will not accept your blame
