Leo Sayer, Innocent Bystander

Standing by the railway station Waiting for your train. But the train never comes, No the train never comes.

And I think I'm going out of my hell Yes I think I'm going out of my hell.

Running down the track Trying to reach the end. But the end never comes, No the end never comes.

And I think I'm going out of my hell Yes I think I'm going out of my hell.

I've been waiting for the sun But it always hides behind the sky.

Time crawls by before my eyes, That's the story of my life.

And I think I'm going out of my hell Yes I think I'm going out of my hell.

Aaah aaah

I've been waiting for the sun But it always hides behind the sky. Time crawls by before my eyes, That's the story of my life.

Well I think I'm going out of my hell
