

Les Gutaless, Miss You

Bright shining moonlight
Is falling down
Melting away in a grey winter's day
I have been up all night
Thinking of you
While the moon was watching on me
What you put me through but I don't hate you
I already miss you

I have my ears, but nothing to hear
I have my lips, but nothing to say
My eyes won't see you
My heart won't feel you
And I already miss you

You were so close,
And yet I am alone
But it's OK
I don't hate you anyway
I have been up all night thinking of you
While the moon was watching on me
When the night comes and town is asleep
The moon knows I already miss you

I have my ears, but nothing to hear
I have my lips, but nothing to say
My eyes won't see you
My heart won't feel you
And I already miss you
And I already miss you
And I already miss you

I have my ears, but nothing to hear
I have my lips, but nothing to say
My eyes won't see you
My heart won't feel you
And I already miss you
And I already miss you
And I already miss you
