

Less Than Jake, Bigger Picture

Breaking down from every insult that you've taken from one sided conversations Burning out from all the minor misconceptions that just play on your frustrations your self doubt has your head so turned around there's not a catch phrase that can save you and it's not that hard to figure out disappointment doesn't have to cut to a commercial now I'm breaking down I'm burning out and it's not funny like on television when your self doubt turns you inside out it's still not funny like on television I'm passing time since I've been right
and it's not funny like on television those times I've cracked with no laugh track and it wasn't funny like on television