

Less Than Jake, Great American Shartpshooter

so you think of what it could've been time is all you've lost keeps burning through your head and now you fall asleep standing but lie awake in bed watch the clock drag and think of what you should've said it's for the better your better half is gone it's ok you didn't need her anyway and I don't want to hear you say nobody can take her palce and what more can I say you didn't need her anyways so you think of how it's should've been and it's just over keeps going through your head you're hearing all those words time and time again watch the phone all night and think about what you should've said it's for the better your better half is gone