

Less Than Jake, Hell Looks A Lot Like L.A.

He got in his car and told himself to drive gotta leave it all behind if he wants to feel alive 19 and lost and never thought he'd ever leave this place vacant mind from endless grind so what's to lose anyways Another fast food job?
Another 8 to 5 day?
Ten minutes and two miles is just a mile too many today and you can see why it's easy to say y'know that hell looks a lot like L.A. six months ago was the last she felt alive moved down from the north and told herself she'd try 18 and lost and never thought this place would change ignored and bored the same feelings as yesterday she said it's way too much more than she could take it's one less car that's in the way y'know that hell looks a lot like L.A.