

Level 42, I Want Eyes

it's late I know but I can't sleep peace of mind is hard to keep I saw it on the news today a thousand lives just blown away
I want eyes
I want eyes
another page in history but the why is still a mystery won't you come so we can talk this through do you need me now like I need you
I want eyes
I want eyes
on the beach lies a boy thrown away like a toy in the field lies a man left behind, he was calling, calling no one saw him die sitting there you're telling me that everything is meant to be but when I say I can't go on I know I'm not the only one I just can't live on planet hope and watch the world go up in smoke I don't know how to face the facts when I see a child respond to impact
I want eyes
I want eyes
I want eyes
I want eyes
so I wake every night with the same dream in mind in a field there's a man left behind, he was calling, calling no one saw me cry
call
