

Level 42, Two Hearts Collide

Sold in silence
I never thought I could ever fall so deep now I need to know how you feel and with a kiss
I steal the silence from your lips hearts colliding making waves that will echo through the years never thought I would find a love so real and I know this I want the life that love can give now I know what it means a love so rare in years of wasted promises a love to care only love can make some sense of it a love affair and though it's only just begun a love to share when two hearts collide and beat as one now I know you care and I'll provide you with a dream that will never disappear with the words that I know you want to hear without end I've found a love I will defend now you know what I mean (repeat Chorus)