Liam Lynch, Burying Your Cat

i'm, burying your cat tonight by the glow of my headlight a secret, i will hold dear.

i backed over it, i didn't mean it so i peeled it off the tire, and drove to the edge of town. i drove to the edge of town tomorrow, you might tell me, that she has ran away a tear falls softly that i whipe away i know, she's safely and six feet under i know she's six feet under, secretly i know, she's done for. (meow in background)
