

Liar Of Golgotha, Into the Labyrinth of Lamentation

"I am a dark star rising. I was bound to another's system by a soul I once possessed. My God was diamond and black light. And I was his Dark Pope."

"But I am reaching my highest top, and dethroning the diamond king. And I crown myself with his barbed crown of blue blood and rusty steel. And now I will rule supreme. And I will control the Army of Shadows that dwell within the mysterious dark configuration of the lament."

"Summon me and I will show you new realms of death and love; of pleasure and starvation; of sex and torture. Because I have all power, I am almighty. I can bend reality to everyone's desires."

"Give me your flesh, and I will grant you new life, A life that exceeds far beyond the frontiers of your mind, a life that will satisfy even your smallest wishes. So, will this be your destiny? Will you come with me, into the labyrinth of lamentation?"