

Life Long Tragedy, Standing By Our Words

With the ropes around our necks, you never thought wed last.
But time will prove you wrong,
and prove so much more to ourselves.
So many times I held it in.
I never thought others felt it too.
Holding back is not an option now.
We grew up fast and well be dead soon.
Coming from an empty place where everyones the same,
were the ones that are brave enough to stand up and question what we hate.
I will not retrace my steps.
I dont care what you think is wrong.
Yesterday is as dead as them.
Right now should be my problem.
We still have convictions.
We will stand by our words.
Were born fighters, so fuck the followers.