

Lifehouse, Crown Of Scars

Forget about the fight to wear the crown of scars
Cause you've already won
Forget the pain and leave tears behind you
Bury underneath your feet the remains
Of what's been left behind
Cause you have got a long, long way to run

But now you dance the rest of the way
And you don't look back
Can you hear that angel singing
As you rise

Now you fly away
And you don't look down now
And you laugh til you can't laugh any longer
As you watch your chains fall to the ground

Will you fall against the wall that you have built
With your own hands?
When you trip upon the thorns that you have tied
Your legs together with
When you walk upon thin ice you know you should
Not be walking
Why do you wonder why that you fell through?

Now you fly away
And you don't look down now
And you laugh til you can't laugh any longer
As you watch your chains fall to the ground

And now you laugh
And your tears
Smile down at your fears
From where you are
From way up here
You know nothing's ever looked so good
Nothing ever looked so good

But now you dance the rest of the way
You don't look back
Can you hear that angel singing
As you rise

Now you fly away
And you don't look down now
And you laugh til you can't laugh any longer
As you watch your chains fall to the ground

Now you fly away
And you don't look down now
And you laugh til you can't laugh any longer
As you watch your chains fall to the ground