

Lifetime, Yeems Song For Nothing

So cool it down relax a while you get too crazy Quit holding out on the couch
your glass is nearly empty but did you see it all come down Along your race to ruin
No reason to talk now
No reason to talk

Quit making lists of all the stuff that you did Just push on lightly and don't think about the stuff you hid Your love has gone for good though he's still in the room
No more talk of future
I can't bare to lose you

At all the shows
love comes and goes and then you wonder, are we over exposed?

Don't wanna know your favorite show all I wanted to know is what time I could stop by She don't know
She never knows
I saw it come down
when he blew into town
it was right on the corner
when you pulled her inside
they never know
they never know
