

Linda Ronstadt, Rattle My Cage

(Chas Justus)

Won't you rattle my cage little birdie
Won't you come to me and sing your happy song
Make me feel I'm not trapped forever
Make these winter days seem not so long

Won't you rattle my cage little birdie
Won't you come to my window if you can
You're the only one seems could ever free me
You're the only one that seems to understand

That nothing in this world seems to please me
No reason to even ask me why
And if you see me looking like I'm dreaming
I'm dreaming that I'm strong enough to fly

All the leaves on the trees they are falling
I can feel the seasons growing cold
Outside another day is calling
Outside another day unfolds

Still nothing in this world seems to please me
No reason to even ask me why
And if you see me looking like I'm dreaming
I'm dreaming that I'm strong enough to fly
