

Lindi Ortega, Stumble and Fall

Lately I've been contemplating
Leaving all of this behind
There's too much worry on my mind

Everyday my heart is breaking
Something's always on the line
And I'm always racing against time

Sometimes I stumble and fall
And I don't think I'll get up again
Sometimes I stumble and fall
And I don't think I'll get up again
Though I might stumble and fall
I know I must get up again
Gotta get back up again
Gotta get back up again

There are days I often wonder
How I ever got this far
I've been walking blindly in the dark
Never thought I'd see the light shine
Never thought my day would come
I would always jump before the gun

Sometimes I stumble and fall
And I don't think I'll get up again
Sometimes I stumble and fall
And I don't think I'll get up again
Though I might stumble and fall
I know I must get up again
Gotta get back up again
Gotta get back up again

Gotta get back up again
Gotta get back up again
Gotta get back up again
Gotta get back up again
Gotta get up
