

Lindsey Stirling, What You're Made Of (ft. Kiesza)

Lights go down inside your head again
The walls are thin, like they're closing in Lost yourself inside a broken mirror
Cause that's what you fear, but i am still here

Push me out
I'll pull you closer
When you think that it's all over
Know that you will never be unloved by me

You're bigger than the mountain
Might be bent but you're not broken
Know that you will never be uninvolved by me

(....?....)

Push me out
I'll pull you closer
When you think that it's all over
Know that you will never be unloved by me

You're bigger than the mountain
Might be bent but you're not broken
Know that you will never be uninvolved by me

Cause i know what you're made of

i know what you're made of
i know what you're made of
i know what you're made of
i know what you're made of
i know what you're made of
i know what you're made of

Push me out
I'll pull you closer
When you think that it's all over
Know that you will never be unloved by me
Push me out
I'll pull you closer
When you think that it's all over
Know that you will never be unloved by me

You're bigger than the mountain
Might be bent but you're not broken
Know that you will never be uninvolved by me

I know what you're made of